Built in 1485 Villa Bandini is the stately home of the noble Piccolomini family - Lords of the Manor of the enchanting medieval hamlet of Borgo Bandini for generations. This property offers exquisite peace and comfort in a particularly beautiful corner of the magical Val d'Orcia, just thirty minutes drive from Siena. Guests here will not fail to marvel at the spectacular views of the surrounding landscapes including the famously picturesque villages of Pienza, Montalcino, San Quirico d'Orcia and San Giovanni d'Asso - all within a short drive. The ancient village consists of two stony roads, two churches, a castle, a quaint but handy village store and a number of smaller houses that look out across rolling fields and patches of woodland towards the reassuring profile of Mount Amiata. The Villa has its own private garden and enchanting al fresco dining space. The swimming-pool and surrounding area on top of the hill are shared with the other apartments of Borgo Bandini.

Technical description:

The front door opens onto a majestic hallway enlivened with portraits of princes and popes, renowned ancestors of the owner's family. A double stairway ascends to the living area. On the right two spacious living rooms with frescoed ceilings, fireplace and windows overlook the Tuscan countryside. The beautifully decorated dining room has a rear door accessing the large, fully-equipped kitchen. On one side there is an outside porch with small dining table.

An L-shaped corridor leads to the bedrooms. The first double bedroom comes with an en-suite bathroom with shower. The floor is completed by two double bedrooms, one twin bedroom and a single with French-size bed. These four bedrooms all have en suite bathrooms with tub. A stairway leads down to the lower floor and garden.
